Spring starts our year of learning. The 2019 conferences will focus on the theme of the future of education and how we serve our students and communities.

Our Keynote Speaker will be Andrea Henderson, JD.

Andrea is the President at CC Strategists, a consulting firm focused on public policy, trustee education, and advocacy. She brings almost 20 years' experience working with trustees on public policy issues, both at the national and state level. An attorney by training, her areas of expertise include governance, funding strategies, legislative policy issues and advocacy. She has given presentations on topics such as campus safety & security, the Oregon Promise program, and trustee engagement strategies.

Andrea has her B.S., Political Science from Oregon State University, a J.D. from Willamette University College of Law, and a certificate in Disruptive Innovation from Harvard Business School Online. Currently she is working on a project exploring the disruptive forces on community colleges and their impact on the future.

Her presentation will help participants explore future trends for community colleges particularly about the impact of Artificial Intelligence, automation, and blockchain technology. She will highlight the projected workforce disruptions and how community colleges might respond to what some are calling the fourth industrial revolutions that will change how we work, live, and relate to each other.

The cost of this one day conference is $225 (for Member Colleges) to explore great theories and practices, as well as network with people from across the Washington CTC system.
