

March 20, 2018

Good afternoon,

As we wrapped up the appeal period yesterday, we now have the final prioritized list of college proposals for new major capital projects for our 2019-21 capital request (see attachment).

There were several discussions, requests for additional information, and one formal appeal since release of the preliminary results. The appeal was to correct an administrative error on Lower Columbia College's score sheet. The error was corrected quickly and in accordance with the appeals process.

Later this week the WACTC Capital committee will be reviewing details about the results as we fine tune our legislative messaging for the 2019-21 capital budget request.

I would like to thank all of the scorers and observers for their dedication to our system's hallmark capital process for prioritizing limited state resources.

Sincerely,

Jan Yoshiwara
Executive Director
